

AWAY DAYS

Mottisfont

House, gallery & riverside gardens

Sun. 6th August 2017

Do join us for a wonderfully idyllic summertime day out.....

Our coach will travel through the delightful village of Stockbridge before taking us on to Mottisfont where we may...

step across a crystal clear river and enter a little piece of paradise, follow winding paths through trees, with the sound of water never far away, and bathe in the colour and fragrance of a walled garden.

We may then stroll over sweeping lawns to the converted medieval priory that Maud Russell made her home in the 1930s or enjoy iconic images of British landscape in changing exhibitions in the art gallery.

Maud Russell's published diaries weave together so many strands: politics, art, high society, wartime life on a country estate, and of particular interest to our group, her struggles to help her Jewish relatives flee Nazi Germany. Look out for 'A Constant Heart: The War Diaries of Maud Russell 1938-1945'
